

January 23, 1976

is where he said he was calling from. I told him that he may have talked to other Senators down here and intimidated them but what I would rather do is not talk to him on the telephone but in my office or wherever he said, on my turf or his, and then if he had something on his mind that he wanted to do to show me how dangerous it was, he could show me and not tell me. Well, you know what all of a sudden the man told me then, that I had misunderstood what he was talking about, what he was calling for was to invite me and my family to his house for a Sunday dinner. Now that is what he did. I call that cowardice. If he meant to call to invite to dinner, that is what he should have said. Not unless he was trying to advise me that he was going to poison the food so that is why it would be dangerous for me. But with that type of lobbying, some other things that I understand have been said on the radio in Lincoln, it gives you an idea of the type of people that you are dealing with in this situation. So I would like to hear what Senator DeCamp has in the way of meritorious argument to justify killing the bill. If he feels that cockfighting should be legal, I want him to say that. If he feels that, though illegal, it should not have a penalty, I want him to say that. If he wants to allege that there is not gambling and the other attendant vices that I mentioned in my presentation, I want him to say that. But I don't believe the Legislature should return this bill to kill it just because Senator DeCamp makes the motion.

PRESIDENT: Senator Stoney.

SENATOR STONEY: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I, too, rise in opposition to Senator DeCamp's motion to kill this bill. I think we have had ample debate on this bill. I think the issue is clear. The crux of the matter is this, you either believe that this is an activity that is brutalizing and dehumanizing or you feel that it is an activity which is honorable and should be continued. If Senator DeCamp has answers to the questions Senator Chambers has put forth, I would be happy to hear them, but unless he does have, I would suggest we move forward and forget about his motion to indefinitely postpone.

PRESIDENT: Senator DeCamp.

SENATOR DeCAMP: Mr. President, I think I have answers to those questions and I think I have answers to a lot more questions about this bill. Before I get right into it, I would like to tell you a little story that typifies this bill and what I think Senator Chambers is going to discover about this bill. A man was standing there and a great big German shepherd dog was next to him. Another fellow came up and he said to him, "Hey, nice looking dog." He says, "Does your dog bite?" And the guy says, "No, my dog doesn't bite.", and the man reaches down and pets the big German shepherd on the head and it nearly tears his hand off. And the guy says, "Hey, I thought you said your dog didn't bite." He says, "I didn't say that was my dog." That is this bill. You see, he is talking about cockfighting. The bill has about as much to do with cockfighting as that man had to do with that dog. Let's go through it. Anybody here have anything